

Savannah Hurst

Journalism, Communication
Savannahhurst@ou.edu

Summary

I aspire to produce truthful, unbiased news from around the world. My genuine love for people and news is relevant in my daily life. I plan to be the voice for those without one and reflect my passion for story telling to the American public.

Experience

Student at University of Oklahoma - News Anchor at OU Nightly – Social Media for Faithco Church

Education

University of Oklahoma

Broadcast Journalism, 2013 - 2017

Activities and Societies: OU Nightly, Campus Activities Council, Student Council, and Younglife student ministry.

Grade: Junior

Skills & Expertise

Broadcast
Journalism
Television News
Public Speaking
People Skills
Community Outreach
Nonprofits Organizational
Leader

Photography
News writing
Avid iNews
QuickTime
Final Cut Pro
MPEG Streamclip

Volunteer Experience

News Anchor for OU Nightly at University of Oklahoma

August 2013 - 2014 (2 years)

Disaster Cleanup Crew at Faithco Outreach Team

May 2013 - Present (2 years 3 months)

Major tornados hit Moore, Oklahoma in May 2013. Hundreds of people were left in devastation, without homes, and alone. I was given the opportunity to help those in need of shelter, food, water, clothing, and any other necessities. Our team was able to bring in enough supplies to warrant semi-loads of products to destroyed neighborhoods where most people refused to leave. We cleaned up neighborhoods, pulled mattresses out of trees, recovered valuables out of the rubble, and chain sawed trees in half so we could carry them out of what were once living rooms and kitchens. Helping people that year was life altering.

Videographer and All-purpose help - Faithco Missions

March 2012 - Present (3 years 5 months)

Every year I join a team and travel to Central America to partner with a church in the world's number one most crime rated city, San Salvador, El Salvador. While there we build playgrounds, take food and resources to schools, feed the community, put on concerts and carnivals, give away shoes and clothes, empower young mothers with education and hope, rebuild classrooms and much more. I was also able to film and document the chaos and devastation of El Salvador in hopes of bringing awareness to the people back home and moving them to give financially to support the cause our team fights for every year. There is no other feeling on earth more rewarding than the look on a mothers face when you give her child a pair of shoes.